

Flying Star

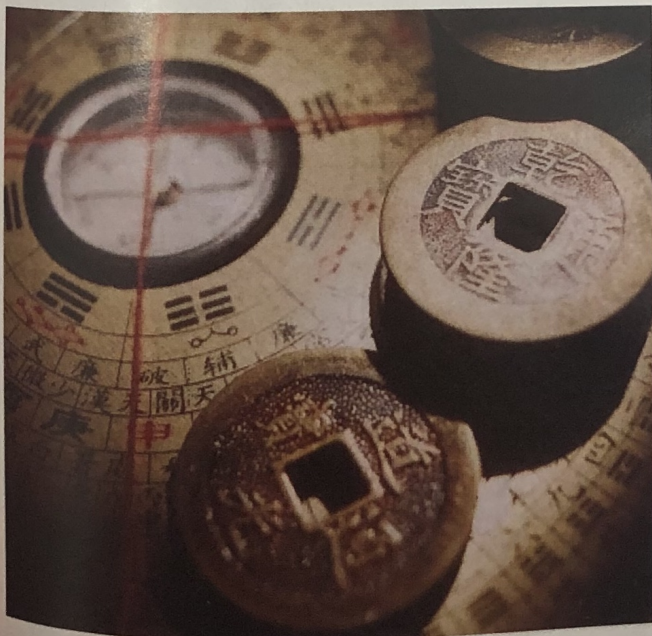

Feng Shuí:

Last month I wrote about the 3 different types of Luck and the paramount importance of 'Earth Luck' among these 3, simply because it is technically possible to correct a house and even possible to change the house and shift to another luckier one, so you can change your earth Luck totally in your favour. But heaven luck cannot completely be changed, as it is impossible for anyone to be born again with a better horoscope!!

To get absolutely accurate guidance in selection or correction of a house or office to give great luck to the inmates there is no science more potent and powerful than Flying Star Feng Shui! Flying star Feng Shui is the highest level of the science of feng shui. Actually it's the most sophisticated school (system) of Feng Shui of course it is an extremely complicated but very powerful science and one which predicts with unfailing accuracy, the behavior of any property! True knowledge of correct interpretation and application of this science is there with very few people in the world! I consider myself extremely fortunate and blessed to have mastered this miraculous science from learning for years from 'Master Joseph Yu' who is the world's top authority on the subject! Of course I have also learnt from master Yap Cheng Hai and other great master and have even done the highly prestigious master practitioner course from Lillian too at her Institute in Malaysia many many years ago!

To prepare the flying star chart of any property we need to correctly know the period of construction ie when the building was completed and secondly what is the exact orientation that is the facing direction of house/Main door For example if house was made in 1990 i.e., 1984 2004 it is called a period 7 house. If its facing direction is say North at say 4° angle then it is called N 2 facing house.

In preparing the flying star chart of the house the facing direction is to be very accurately checked up with an engineer's compass or a Luo-pan. For bungalows the facing side generally be the facing of the main door, but in apartment it may be some other side, depending on which side admits maximum yang energy into the apartment correct judgment of the facing side requires tremendous amount of experience and skill! Hence flying star feng shui is not an easy science which a layman can learn from books mastering this science requires a high level of intelligence and educational background as a preferred prerequisite! It is also a science which cannot be learnt from just any Tom, Dick or Harry!

After checking the facing direction accurately, the sitting (mountain) side is judged, it is always diametrically opposite to the facing. For example if facing is N-2 then sitting will be S-2. The actual preparation of the flying Star chart requires highly complex mathematical calculations, but as an example to show you what a flying star chart ultimately looks like, and giving and chart for a period 7 house with facing N-2 at 4° angle.

The big number in each of the nine sectors is called the time star. The small number on the right is called the to

SE		S		SW
	1 4	6 8		8 6
	6	2		4	Mountain Star
E	9 5	2 3		4 1	Water Star
	5	7		9	Time Star
	5 9	7 7		3 2
	1	3		8
NE		N		NW

be very careful.

The main purpose of preparing the flying star chart, is to know which areas of house are having good luck and which areas are having bad luck. The main correction advised, is to make the bread winner of the family to use a lucky area of the house, or if that is not possible then to try and reduce the ill effects of the bad star combinations, using some special Flying star Feng Shui cures, Flying star Feng Shui is extremely effective and especially potent when judiciously combined with the 8 - mansions kua formula of compass feng shui!

water star and the small number on the left is called the mountain star. The combination of the star (Numbers) in each Palace (sector) tells us precisely whether that sector of the house is lucky or unlucky. The interpretation of the combination of the stars in a flying star chart is not a joke, it requires the master to bring to the fore all his years of knowledge and experience because the combination of stars as well as the interaction of elements they represent, have to be studied and interpreted. All this requires years of skill! Hence never go about of consulting just any so called expert! Check his background of education, authenticity of knowledge, general reputation and level of experience. Ask which master he has studied under. Never engage self styled expert who has just learnt the science but does not have much experience. I get a number of cases every month, which have been mishandled by many such so called new experts, so please

I hope that this article serve as an eye opener for people who feel that feng shui is only about putting a few curves here and there. People must know that no amount of frogs and turtles and coins will help if there is a bad flying star combination which is causing the problem.
