

The Silver Spoon of Feng Shui...

Ever wondered why some people seem to enjoy good luck all the time? Why some people seem like they are born lucky, with things working out very easily for them all the time, where as others have to work very hard and yet achieve very little? The answer is really very simple, Luck as we know is comprised of 3 portions namely:

Haven Luck, Earth Luck and Mankind Luck.

Haven Luck

Haven luck is preordained and cannot be changed. It is haven luck that decides which location you will be born in, what time and day you will be born, it decides what family rich or poor, you will be born unto! Thus our life is to some extent determined or predetermined by the day time, place and family we are born unto, irrespective of whether we like it or not! Our parents, country of birth, etc., will affect the quality of our lives. Our inborn strengths, weaknesses, traits of personality, nature, etc., are determined to a good extent by the time and place of our birth which create a horoscope or birth chart for us which we cannot change! Hence our Kundli is fixed the moment we are born and of course it influences our life ahead to the extent of one part out of three parts that influence our luck. This type of luck is very almost impossible to alter. The dictates of our Kundli or horoscope predict a logical pattern of our luck and our endeavours and quality of life at a particular point in time, this however may not be the same throughout an individual's life.

It is a pattern of luck going through its crests and troughs, more or less, as the effect of the dictates of our horoscope show and predict into events and happenings in our life ahead.

A very important point to understand here is that this forms only 1/3rd of the influence on our luck! It is important, but it is not everything, hence if your Kundli is not indicative of a good time at this point in your life, it is certainly disadvantageous and of course problematic and troublesome, but do not despair and feel helpless, because what the haven luck influences on you is only 1/3rd and there's a good two portions out of three are still to come! There are 2 other influences, namely Earth Luck & Mankind Luck (Karma) which also influence your overall luck pattern at any given point in time! This is the main reason why even the best and the most knowledgeable astrologers, with all due credit to them, are not always right about their predictions! They are sometimes right and sometimes in spite of their best knowledge of effort their predictions do not come true for many people because the Best of astrologers can also, only tell you what your horoscope indicates as pertaining to your luck! They are not creating your future for you, but merely making you aware of what could be in store. This is only 1/3rd of the influences the other 2/3rds is beyond the understanding of Astrology! Astrology is a great science too, but like Feng Shui it forms only 1/3rd of the influence to your luck.

Earth Luck

The earth luck constitutes another 1/3rd of the influence to your luck. It relates to the kind of luck you get from the places you live and work in. Meaning your house and your office. The places you live or work from affect your luck to the extent of 1/3rd and they can give you a lot of good luck or a lot of bad luck too! This is the reason you find people talking or telling you that a particular house has been very lucky for them and that after Gruhapravesha in to that house they immediately had tremendous good fortune! You also have people readily admitting that after going to a particular house they have had tremendous bad luck, accidents have happened, business has collapsed and they have gone is to loans and liabilities! Misfortune has struck them since the time they moved in to a particular house or office! These stories are abundant and they are very true because a really lucky house and a powerful setting has the potential to give tremendous good luck to people and vice versa while on the other hand, an unlucky house or an unlucky setting inside an average house has the potential to give a lot of bad luck to the inmates! This is where the powerful and accurate science of flying star Feng Shui can help us predict above the kind of luck we can get from a particular place!

It is important to understand clearly that there are houses which are very lucky in general as per flying star Feng Shui they are the type which have the star chart of the type we call "Fortunate water & fortunate mountain" type. Then there are houses which have very unlucky flying star charts in general, these are called the "reverse water & reverse mountain" type of course there are many other types of houses which have an average strength, these are the "Double period stars at facing palaces" and "double period stars at sitting palace types". These kind of houses have average strength but of course they can also give a lot of good luck or a lot of bad luck depending upon the setting inside the house! Flying star Feng Shui chart of a house is extremely complex to interpret. It takes years of learning under the right guru and years of experience of a huge number of cases, to really master the fine art of correctly interpreting these charts! Of course a genuine and highly experienced Feng Shui master can tell you what the house can do to you and what influence it will have on your luck! The flying star Feng Shui chart once correctly interpreted, tells us about the overall luck of the house, and more importantly, the lucky & unlucky areas within your house! Some rooms and areas can be very lucky and others, very unlucky inside the same house! This is the precise reason why Feng Shui can change your luck & life! Feng Shui corrections include the house, altering sleeping directions based on your date of birth and enhancing the lucky stars of the house with cures! Do remember, flying star Feng Shui is a very powerful science dictating 1/3rd of the luck that you can have in your life!

Mankind Luck

This 1/3rd of luck for you in your life comes from your behaviour and attitude to life and your good or bad Karma! Your hard work or laziness! You hear people say that they believe in nothing else but hard work and good Karma! Yes of course this is partly true meaning true to the extent of 1/3rd of its influence on your luck! Hence it is always advisable to work hard and with ethics aid do good deeds or at least do no bad deeds!
